Bachelor of Arts (Honours)

Bachelor of Communication and Media Studies (Honours)

Bachelor of International Studies (Honours)

Overview/Course Aims

The Honours year has two functions in the university curriculum: as an in-depth project at the end of undergraduate study, and as a bridge between undergraduate study and advanced research. While it does offer, through its coursework subjects, the chance to complete coverage of a discipline, it aims primarily to provide depth of study, developing sophisticated analysis and research skills in a specialised area of interest.

Honours can be taken in a single area of study, across two majors (Combined Honours) or between Faculties (Joint Honours).

Honours is the most direct pathway to further academic research, especially Higher Degree Research (HDR) – Honours Class II Division 2 (II.2) is the minimum requirement for entry into a Master of Arts Research (MA Res) or Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) program without the need to complete further coursework and/or research training. As such, the Honours year provides:

- training in research skills and in information systems (archives, the Library, databases, electronic research networks);
- opportunity to practise articulating complex ideas orally and in writing, experience in working closely with a supervisor on a project and in preparing a major project to meet a deadline;
- experience in devising, researching and writing up an individual topic of study in an extended argument/thesis.

Course Codes

Bachelor of Arts (Honours) is 701.

Bachelor of Communication and Media Studies (Honours) is 878.

Bachelor of International Studies (Honours) is 322.

Entry Requirements

Entry into Honours program is determined by a recommendation from the Honours Coordinator, following the student's application to the University and the Unit/Centre for admission to the Honours year. To qualify for admission to a course leading to an Honours degree a person shall have:

- satisfactorily completed a 500 word description and justification of the proposed topic of the thesis research (see page 3)

AND

- qualified at this University for the award of a relevant pass bachelor degree*, with an average normally of at least 75% across the major in which the Honours degree will be undertaken, with the additional requirement of a Distinction in two subjects at 300 level in the specific major,

OR

- qualified at another tertiary institution for the award of a pass bachelor degree containing a coherent study equivalent to a relevant major study with an average of at least 75% across the major in which the Honours degree will be undertaken, with the additional requirement of a Distinction in two subjects at 300 level in the specific major.

OR

- satisfactorily completed other approved requirements (if necessary).

Under exceptional circumstances these requirements may be waived in light of other results subject to the student making a special appeal to the Honours Coordinator.

- * Note: It is not necessary to have formally graduated prior to applying for admission to Honours. It is also possible to graduate and subsequently apply to enrol in Honours.

The Application Process

To help you identify potential supervisors it is advised that you explore the academic profile pages on the Faculty's webpage and make contact with the Convenor of the academic major you intend to do Honours in well in advance of submitting an application. They will be able to assist in preliminary discussions of possible thesis topics, constructing a thesis proposal and possible supervisors. The final decision on supervision is made by the Faculty's Honours Coordinator based on advice from the Program Convenor and Head of School.

The Honours year is treated as a new course rather than a part of the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Communications and Media Studies degree or the Bachelor of International Studies, so students need to apply for entry. The application form is available from UniAdvice in Building 36 or online at:

<http://www.uow.edu.au/student/honours/applicationinformation/index.html>

In addition to the information required on the form students need to include a 500 word outline of the proposed thesis topic. The outline should indicate the topic the applicant would like to research, as well as a justification of the significance of the research from a personal and/or intellectual point of view.

Once applicants have completed the Undergraduate application form and submitted it to UniAdvice, the Faculty considers the application. Applicants will then receive a letter advising on the outcome of their application.

The Enrolment Process

Successful students will receive a letter of offer that will contain information on how to enrol online via SOLS.

Before enrolling in Honours online, it is vital that students check with ARD that their undergraduate status is complete as this will affect the Honours enrolment process. This check can be done via SOLS – students need to apply for a 'completion letter long' via the link:

<http://www.uow.edu.au/student/forms/UOW008135.html#41A>

Once this form has been submitted to ARD, they will issue a letter to the student. This will be forwarded to the student's home address, advising of the completion of their undergraduate studies and this completion will be reflected on the student's record.

To enrol in the Honours discipline, students should follow the following steps within SOLS:

- From the main index page select Enrolment and Variations
- Enter the Honours discipline code (e.g. ENGL470) into the new subject code field
- Details selected will appear. Select and click the add subject button if this is correct.

Students will now be enrolled as an Honours Student in the specific discipline code selected.

Every student is also required to enrol in one of these course codes – ARTS480 Thesis (Full-time) or ARTS482 Thesis (Part-time). See the Enrolment Schedule on page 5.

To find out the exact structure of the coursework component students should refer to the Honours Enrolment Schedule (page 5) and contact the Honours Coordinator as well as the coordinator of ARTS470 (Research in the Social Sciences and Humanities). In the case of the Joint Honours programs students should speak with the Honours Coordinator and the Honours Coordinator from the external Faculty.

Formal enrolment is necessary to reactivate the student's library card.

Part-Time Enrolment Procedure

There are no separate part-time subjects in Honours. Part-time enrolment is indicated by enrolment in the correct thesis code, ARTS482 – 12cp Thesis (part-time component). Students enrolling in part-time Honours are required to enrol in ARTS482 in two of the four sessions of their part-time enrolment. Coursework for part-time students has to be completed in the session it is normally on offer i.e. students cannot spread one coursework subject across two sessions. See the Schedule on page 5 (Enrolment in Honours). Please note, this doesn't not apply to students changing from full-time Honours to part-time Honours studies (or vice-versa). Students wanting to do this should read the Change of Status section below.

Length of candidature

For full-time students the Honours degree should be completed in two consecutive sessions. Part-time students are allowed up to four consecutive sessions (not including Summer Session).

Leave of Absence

Leave of Absence (LOA) during the Honours program is normally not possible except under exceptional circumstances, as the availability of supervision cannot be guaranteed. LOA applications must be submitted in writing to the Honours Coordinator. Applications will be assessed by the Honours Coordinator, in consultation with other relevant parties.

Change of Status (full-time or part-time)

Applications for change of enrolment status are not automatically approved, as they need to be assessed for their impact on coursework completion and thesis supervision. Students who wish to change their enrolment status (full to part time or vice-versa) will need to provide a written outline justifying their reasons to the Honours Coordinator and complete an 'Amend Academic Record Form' via SOLS.

Areas of Study

An Honours year in the Faculty is available in the following areas:

- Community, Culture and Environment*
- Employment Relations
- English Language and Linguistics
- English Literatures
- European Studies
- French
- History
- Indigenous Studies
- Interdisciplinary Honours
- Italian
- Japanese
- Media and Cultural Studies
- Philosophy
- Politics
- Science and Technology Studies
- Sociology
- Spanish

*Available at Batemans Bay, Bega, Moss Vale and Shoalhaven only.

Grade of Honours

The overall grade of Honours is determined by calculation of the weighted average mark (WAM) for the 400-level subjects in which the student is enrolled. Honours is awarded in the following categories:

Class I (WAM 85 to 100%)

Class II, Division 1 (WAM 75 to less than 85%)

Class II, Division 2 (WAM 65 to less than 75%)

Class III (WAM 50 to less than 65%)

If the WAM is below 50%, an Honours grade is not awarded.

This table sets out the typical spread of results for Honours students in the former Faculty of Arts, 2007-2012:

Year/Grade	Class III	Class II, Division 2	Class II, Division 1	Class I	Total
2007	0	1	19	12	32
2008	0	1	9	11	21
2009	0	1	18	12	31
2010	0	2	15	12	29
2011	0	0	21	15	36
2012	0	0	18	21	39

University Medal

Honours students who achieve a minimum of Honours Class 1 and have outstanding results over the entirety of their undergraduate degree may be considered for the Award of the University Medal. Nominations for this award will not be made until the results for all potential medallists in the particular year have been finalised.

What happens during the Honours year?

Honours is a 48 credit point course comprising coursework (24 credit points) and a research thesis (24 credit points). Full-time students complete the work in one year and part-time students take as long as two years.

Coursework

Coursework comprises 50% of the total Honours mark (the thesis is the other 50%). Students considering joint Honours in any form are encouraged to talk to the Honours Coordinator well in advance to seek approval for enrolment and to discuss their coursework program. Coursework normally comprises of two subjects, taken in alternate semesters (see Enrolment Schedule, page 5).

1. Discipline-specific coursework (disciplinary specific code)

This is a 12-credit point subject undertaken within the subject area of your Major (e.g. Sociology, Philosophy etc). It contributes 50% of the coursework mark (i.e. 25% of the total Honours mark). It is necessary to enrol in the appropriate discipline-specific codes (e.g. SOC470, PHIL470 etc). Students undertaking Honours with a CCE major enrol in CCE470, but complete the discipline-specific coursework indicated by the discipline of their thesis supervisor. The content of the discipline-specific coursework is determined by academics within the Academic Disciplines in consultation with the Honours Coordinator, and normally encompasses a program of study that is designed to deepen and extend disciplinary knowledge.

2. Research in the Social Sciences & Humanities (ARTS470)

All students enrolled in Honours are required to take ARTS470 Research in the Social Sciences and Humanities (12 credit points). It contributes 50% of the coursework mark (i.e. 25% of the total Honours mark). This seminar is team-taught across the Faculty, and introduces a range of the foundation methodological, theoretical and epistemological issues common to Arts Research. This subject takes students through key aspects of becoming a researcher and producing high-quality, well-informed and effective research. The subject investigates the processes of researching and writing a thesis, by examining the nature and origins of disciplinary and interdisciplinary knowledge; the varieties of ways of thinking and arguing; the role of research methods and theories in research; effective writing and other communication skills; and the connection between academic research and the wider community. For enrolment details refer to the Schedule on page 5.

Honours Research Thesis (ARTS480 and ARTS482)

The Honours thesis is normally between 15,000 and 18,000 words in length and is structured like an extended research essay rather than a report. It constitutes 50% of the overall grade – for Honours. Students write their thesis under the guidance of (normally) one supervisor who is a member of academic staff. It is important to note that the thesis is not marked by the supervisor but rather by two examiners, one of whom must be external to the University, or academic program, in which the student is enrolled. Allocating a supervisor is determined by a number of factors, including the fit between the proposed research topic, the supervisor's expertise and staff availability, and needs to be approved by the Honours coordinator in consultation with the Faculty.

The objectives of writing a thesis are: to develop research skills, acquire experience in constructing an extended argument, and to learn how to communicate research results to a relevant audience.

In general the thesis should provide evidence of the candidate's ability:

- To demonstrate a good working knowledge of scholarship in a specific discipline or disciplines;
- To collect materials according to a methodology appropriate to the topic and their discipline or disciplines;
- To develop an argument that effectively links the collected materials to the appropriate scholarship, and
- To write at a satisfactory academic level.

The thesis is not expected to be an original contribution to scholarship as if it were a miniature PhD, but it should still demonstrate the potential for the candidate to do research at a higher level.

To give you an idea of what is expected of a thesis, we have provided, below three descriptions of thesis work taken from different disciplines.

Example 1 — History

The thesis should show an ability to carry out original research and to demonstrate how that research contributes to historical writing. What is a thesis? Essentially, you test a proposition, or an argument, or the literature in the field of historiography that contributes something new to the field. It can be entirely empirically based, or entirely theoretically based. Most fall between the two. It is usually best to begin with something that has interested you in your undergraduate studies.

Example 2 — Sociology

These are required parts of a research proposal that give a clear idea of the elements of a completed thesis in Sociology.

- The boundaries of the research, the specific issue(s) or topic(s) to be investigated and a discussion of its (or their) sociological significance.
- A statement of the theoretical perspective that informs the work and its strengths and weaknesses.
- An outline of the research methodology - the justification of the method chosen, why this rather than others?

- A statement about the research population, data source or research materials and if appropriate a comment about sampling and the extent to which findings can be generalised.
- An outline of what will go into each chapter, for example: introduction (including aims of the study), literature survey, methods, results, discussion, and conclusion.

Example 3 — English Studies

A thesis should

- Demonstrate your ability to work independently such that you are able to:
- Define your topic.
- Propose a (productive or profitable) question or hypothesis related to your chosen subject.
- Conduct an appropriate literature survey which demonstrates your familiarity with the current scholarly discourse or debate into which you are entering.
- Organise your time effectively and responsibly.
- Demonstrate sophisticated analytical skills as applied to primary and secondary material.
- Demonstrate an understanding of the primary and secondary sources in relation to their origin - the context out of which they arose.
- Demonstrate the ability to define and defend a proposition or hypothesis.

Referencing

All references to texts should be suitably acknowledged. Please communicate with your supervisor for information on the appropriate conventions to be used for your discipline.

Students are advised to refer to the following University of Wollongong web sites for relevant information:

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the use of another person's work or ideas as if it were your own. The other person may be an author, artist, critic, lecturer or another student or material on a website. When it is desirable or necessary to use other people's material, students must take care to include appropriate references and attribution - do not pretend the ideas are your own. Take care not to plagiarise unintentionally. Penalties for plagiarism are severe: examples include 0% fail for the particular assessment task, fail grades for the subject, and expulsion from the University.

Students are strongly advised to refer to the following University of Wollongong web site for access to information and policies concerning Acknowledgement Practice and Plagiarism:

<http://www.uow.edu.au/about/policy/UOW058648.html>

Student and Supervisor relationship

First formal meeting between Supervisor and Student

At their initial meeting or within a month after this, the student and supervisor should discuss the Code of Practice with particular reference to the sections dealing with the responsibilities of the supervisor(s) and student. Where there is more than one supervisor, the student is notified of particular responsibilities of each supervisor. Student and supervisor(s) then discuss and agree upon:

- the duration, location and timing of future meetings;
- the structure of future meetings, including which supervisors will attend and the responsibilities of student and supervisor(s) in the event of postponement of meeting;
- timetabling of and completion and presentation of research proposal; the details of what is required in the thesis proposal and criteria for an acceptable thesis proposal;
- a broad timetable, taking into account the level of the thesis, the student's timetable for the thesis, any foreseen intervening matters (e.g. major conferences), coursework required and the timetable agreed for completion and criteria of such work;
- 'remedial' work required and a timetable agreed for completion and criteria of such work;
- processes for submission of work e.g. whether material should be submitted before meetings;
- access to equipment, study space, computer/software, and where and when these are/will be available and likely resource implications;
- requirements to attend seminars/orally present research proposal;
- the question of whether or not to keep a diary of meetings or another method of record keeping.
- Intellectual Property Policy, and the consequences of this for the student's research are explained carefully;
- Human Ethics Policy and its requirements;
- Grievance Procedures Policy;
- Support services available (Disability Services, Learning Development, etc.)
- Students and supervisors will be provided with a form early in the session which both parties sign off to record their agreement on a meeting schedule. This form is lodged with the faculty. There is an assumption that there should be at a minimum, fortnightly contact between student and supervisor.

Responsibilities of Students

- Honours students have the primary responsibility for the timely completion of the Honours project and other assessment tasks. Specific responsibilities are:

- to develop an Honours project proposal and plan for completing the project within a timeframe agreed to by the supervisor(s);
- to maintain regular contact with the supervisor(s);
- to discuss any proposed variation of enrolment or leave of absence with their supervisor(s) and Honours Coordinator;
- to establish with the supervisor(s) the level of support required for successful completion of the degree;
- to present required written material to the supervisor(s) in sufficient time to allow for comments and discussions before scheduled meetings;
- to undertake additional work towards their project identified as necessary by the supervisor(s);
- to accept responsibility for the quality and originality of all submitted work.

Responsibilities of the Supervisor

The overriding responsibility of supervisors is to provide continuing support to students in researching and producing an Honours project report to the best of the student's ability. Specific other responsibilities are:

- to advise the Honours Coordinator of any situation which might lead to a conflict of interest which could unduly advantage or disadvantage a student, e.g. if there is or has been a close personal relationship between a supervisor and an actual or potential student;
- to advise students about their procedural and substantive rights and responsibilities contained in the Code of Practice – Honours:
<http://www.uow.edu.au/about/policy/UOW058661.html>
- to advise and assist students to comply with occupational health and safety and ethics requirements where relevant;
- to support students in developing a proposal for their Honours project within a negotiated time frame;
- to assist students to develop a plan for completing the Honours project within an appropriate time frame;
- to maintain regular contact with students in order to monitor their progress;
- to inform students about any planned absences during the candidature and arrangements for supervision during those absences;
- to provide timely and helpful written feedback to students on any submissions and to assist them to develop solutions as problems are identified;
- to advise students of inadequate progress or work below the standard generally required and to suggest appropriate action;
- to attend meetings of the academic unit assessment committee where students' grades are determined.

Thesis Submission

The text should be size 12, have 1.5 line spacing, be neatly formatted with adequate margins (at least 2.5-3cm), and preferably printed double-sided. The text should use the method of citation and presentation of bibliographies or lists of work cited appropriate to the specific discipline. Three bound copies should be submitted by 5.00 pm on the due date for examination. These are handed in to Arts Central, room 19.1050.

2014 Due Dates: Wednesday May 7 2014 (Autumn)

Wednesday October 8 2014 (Spring)

The front pages of the thesis should follow this order:

Late Submission of Honours Work

It is very important to keep to deadlines for both coursework and thesis. Not doing so has student equity considerations and can also have an impact on the availability of completed results. This is especially important for students who are applying for a HDR scholarship, where the more complete the result is the easier the process becomes.

Late submission of Honours work is governed by the rules set out below.

Coursework:

The subject outline for any coursework component of the Honours program will give due dates for any assessable work during session. Honours students are expected to meet these deadlines, unless they are prevented from doing so by circumstances covered by the University's Academic Consideration Policy.

Students who have difficulty meeting any deadline on account of such circumstances can apply for an extension to submit the work. Such requests should be made via SOLS. Requests for extensions on coursework components should be handled by the Subject Coordinator responsible for that component.

Where no extension has been granted, late work will be subject to penalty of 10% per day to the original mark that would have been given. Work received after seven calendar days will not be marked and will automatically receive a mark of 0%.

Thesis:

The Honours Handbook gives due dates for the thesis. A request for consideration of late submission of a thesis must be accompanied by a request for Academic Consideration. In completing the Academic Consideration request, you must indicate a proposed alternative submission date. Requests for extensions of 5 working days or less will be addressed by the Honours Coordinator, and the thesis supervisor. Applications for extensions of more than 5 working days will be assessed through the following procedures, which are based on the University's Academic Consideration Policy (Section 6.3).

- Students should consult their supervisor and the Honours co-ordinator
- applications must be made through SOLS to the Honours Coordinator.
- a panel of at least two staff, Sub-Dean (or nominee) and Honours coordinator, one of whom should not be currently teaching the applicant, must consider the application;
- the panel may elect to interview the applicant;
- the panel's decision on an application, together with brief written reasons addressing relevant standard criteria, shall be kept on file and communicated in writing to the applicant;
- the panel's decision shall be forwarded to the relevant course examiners meeting;
- where the reasons for the application are so personal as to warrant confidentiality and the student has requested strict confidentiality, i. All panel members shall still be apprised of all details of an application; ii Only the decision shall be forwarded to the exam committee.

- copies of each application, reasons, decisions and corresponding recommendations, reasons and decisions shall be retained for a minimum of three years following the final decision.
- the applicant will be informed in writing, within five working days of receiving the application, whether the outcome is successful.

Academic Consideration

Academic consideration is a process to help students minimise the impact of certain adverse and unforeseen circumstances on their progression in a course and their performance in subjects.

Students applying for academic consideration must apply through SOLS in the normal manner and must produce supporting documentation, which demonstrates that they have:

- suffered illness or other circumstances beyond their control which have affected their academic performance or prevented them from meeting scheduled assessment requirements; or
- been unable to sit for the standard examination for religious reasons; or
- validated conflicts between scheduled assessments and other commitments such as their carer's duties, court appearances, participation in sporting or cultural activities at a national or international level.

Students are advised to refer to the following University of Wollongong website for detailed information as set out in the Academic Consideration Policy:

<http://www.uow.edu.au/about/policy/UOW058721.html>

Honours in English Literatures can be taken as a single area of study or in combination with another major in Arts or in another faculty. The honours program consists of course work (50%) and a thesis of 15,000 – 18,000 words (50%) on a research topic designed by the student and approved by the supervisor in consultation with the Honours coordinator.

Students undertaking English Literatures (ENGL) Honours enrol in ENGL470 (12 credit points); ARTS480/482 (Thesis 24 credit points) and must also complete ARTS470 (12 credit points).

Students undertaking English Literatures (ENGL) Combined Honours enrol in ENGL472 (12 credit points); ARTS480/482 (Thesis 24 credit points) and must also complete ARTS470 (12 credit points).

Students undertaking English Literatures (ENGL) Joint Honours with a discipline in another faculty enrol in ARTS421 (24 cpts) and an appropriate subject or subjects (24 cpts) from the other faculty. The enrolment pattern for joint honours with Creative Arts is set out elsewhere in this honours booklet.

ENGL470 English Honours

Subject Description:

This disciplinary specific subject reflects the specialist interests and expertise available in the program and may include areas such as Modernism, Post-colonial writing, US literature, contemporary African writing, women's writing, life writing, literature and memory, and early modern literature. Students will be offered advanced study in these specialist areas, informed by current theoretical and methodological approaches. This may involve a special study of recently-produced fiction, and a focus on preparing students for the requirements of research and professional life beyond Honours. The content on offer may vary from year to year, depending on staffing, and may include areas of literary study not listed above.

For more information on this subject consult the Program Convenor.

ENGL472 Combined Honours in English

Subject Description:

The combined Honours subject is a program of study approved by the Honours Co-ordinator in consultation with the Convenors of the two disciplines concerned. The content of the combined subject will consist of equal elements of both disciplines to be determined by negotiation between the parties concerned.

Students considering ENGL472 should discuss their program of study with the Honours Coordinator and Program Convenor well before enrolling in the subject.

The Philosophy Honours program is designed to provide good Philosophy students with the opportunity to develop their abilities in philosophical analysis and research. Honours students gain expertise in a particular area of research, and acquire the skills necessary to continue their studies at the postgraduate level. Honours in Philosophy can be taken as a single area of study or in combination with another major in Arts or in another faculty.

The Honours degree consists of course work (50%) and an Honours thesis (50%). A Philosophy Honours thesis is a research project of between 15,000-18,000 words (24 credit points) focusing on a topic chosen by the student and a supervisor in consultation with the Honours Coordinator. In the thesis, students are expected to demonstrate an ability to research, analyse, and critically assess a prominent philosophical problem.

Students undertaking Philosophy (PHIL) Honours enrol in PHIL470 (12 credit points); ARTS480/482 (Thesis 24 credit points) and must also complete ARTS470 (12 credit points).

Students undertaking Philosophy (PHIL) Combined Honours enrol in PHIL472 (12 credit points); ARTS480/482 (Thesis 24 credit points) and must also complete ARTS470 (12 credit points).

In addition to course work and thesis writing, Honours students are expected to attend regular seminars and workshops hosted by the Philosophy program.

PHIL470 Philosophy Honours

Subject Description:

The Philosophy Honours seminar explores advanced topics in philosophy and allows students to deepen their understanding of contemporary philosophical problems. Topics will be chosen to align with the current research interests of the Philosophy staff, in areas such as applied ethics, political philosophy, philosophy of mind and cognition, philosophy of language, philosophy of science, and philosophy of law. Students will develop their abilities to analyse problems carefully and to articulate their ideas clearly. Assessment will primarily be based on written work, though students will also be expected to contribute to the seminar discussions and to give presentations.

For more information on this subject consult the Program Convenor.

PHIL472 Combined Honours Philosophy

Subject Description:

The combined Honours subject is a program of study approved by the Honours Co-ordinator in consultation with the Convenors of the two disciplines concerned. The content of the combined subject will consist of equal elements of both disciplines to be determined by negotiation between the parties concerned.

Students considering PHIL472 should discuss their program of study with the Honours Coordinator and Program Convenor well before enrolling in the subject.

Science & Technology Studies

The STS Hons program provides students with the experience and expertise in analysis and research relevant to the social and historical aspects of science and technology. The skills they acquire can be used to provide a bridge into further postgraduate study or enhance their competitiveness in workforce. The coursework (12,000–16,000 words) will make up 50% of course requirements, and includes ARTS470 (12 credit points) and an additional 12 credit points of course work from the specific disciplines. The thesis, 15,000–18,000 words, will make up the remaining 50%. Students with an interest in Interdisciplinary Honours should contact the Honours Coordinator.

Students undertaking Interdisciplinary Honours enrol in ARTS474 (12 credit points); ARTS480/482 (Thesis 24 credit points) and ARTS470 (12 credit points). For enrolment details refer to the Schedule on page 5.

Joint Honours

In order to qualify for entry into Joint Honours, candidates must meet the entry requirements for honours in each Faculty. Because a joint honours program is offered only by Arts, candidates should apply for entry to the BA (Honours) program with specialisations in the appropriate disciplines.

Candidates should complete an Undergraduate Application form available from UniAdvice or online at: <http://www.uow.edu.au/student/honours/applicationinformation/index.html>

Completed applications and accompanying documents should be submitted to UniAdvice on or before 31 October in any given year.

The Joint Honours program normally involves 24 credit points from each Discipline, for example:

ARTS421	Joint Honours (Arts and other Faculties)	Autumn& Spring	24 credit points
AND
CREA401	Minor Thesis in Creative Arts	Annual	24 credit points
OR
CREA402	Creative Arts Presentation	Annual	24 credit points

Each student will be allocated at least one supervisor for each subject.

The BA (Honours) is normally taken as a one year full-time course. It can, however, be taken on a part-time basis over two years. Part-time students are required to enrol in and successfully complete ARTS421 (Autumn and Spring sessions) in the first year of study, before being permitted to enrol in the Creative Arts subject in the second year.

Details of each component can be provided by the Honours Coordinator in each Faculty. In some cases the make-up of the components may need to be negotiated between the student and their supervisors.

Prospective joint honours students should make sure to attend the information sessions provided by each Faculty in the Spring session preceding their intended year of study.

Marking Coursework and Thesis

Procedures for Marking Coursework

Majors across the Faculty offer a variety of seminar programs that are undertaken in conjunction with a supervised research thesis. The seminar components of Honours will be distinct from the thesis such that seminar forms of assessment and content might be related but not included in the student's thesis. All majors within the Faculty will adopt a double-marking policy for a significant piece of written assessment in each of the non-thesis components of the honours degree. 'Significant' is understood to comprise 30% or more of the final mark in the component. (This implies that assessment of non-thesis components at Honours level must include a significant written assignment). Double-marking will be undertaken by the coordinator of the component and a non-casual staff member within the program or major, and will follow procedure as stipulated for the Honours thesis.

Procedure for examination of Thesis

Selection of and Guidelines for Examiners

These procedures are based on Section 3.7 of the University's Code of Practice – Honours, supplemented by practices followed in the Faculty.

- The assessment of an Honours project is to be undertaken by two examiners, one of whom must be external. An external examiner is defined as being external to the academic discipline the student has done their thesis within and may be external to the University.
- The choice of examiners is a process involving both the candidate and the supervisor. Together they should generate a list of at least four examiners, having regard to the known disciplinary bias of those suggested. The final choice will be made from this list by the supervisor and Honours Coordinator. If the list of names agreed upon between candidate and supervisor is exhausted then the candidate must be consulted in drawing up a new list.
- A supervisor cannot examine an Honours project that they have supervised.
- Examiners shall be familiar with the expectations of an Honours degree. They shall also:
 - i. have a degree equivalent to or higher than that being supervised; or
 - ii. be currently active researchers or have proven research records; or
 - iii. have previous successful experience in supervision or examination of Honours students.
- Examiners should be allowed up to four weeks to provide a report to the assessment committee, to enable the Faculty to meet University deadlines for the declaration of marks and for students to be considered for scholarships.
- A general knowledge of the field may be all that is necessary or possible for an internal examiner.
- Examiners should have a reasonable familiarity with the theoretical framework used by the student and a sense of fairness when evaluating an argument.
- The examination process remains anonymous. Care should be taken that the external examiner does not have any relationship with the supervisor that might constitute a conflict of interest: personal or professional (i.e. research collaboration, consultancy partnership or similar). The examiners should not have a personal or professional relationship with the student.

- The supervisor in consultation with the Honours Coordinator will contact the potential examiner to ask if s/he is willing to examine the honours thesis.
- Names of examiners will be given to the Honours Administrators.
- Formal invitations to examine the thesis will normally be signed by the Honours Coordinator except where there is a supervisory relationship between the candidate and that person.
- Examiners will be made familiar with the requirements of the University and the essential parts of the rules governing the particular degree. The letter outlining guidelines for examination and report will include word length and percentage value of thesis, grading system, requested report length and date by which report should be returned, and request that the thesis be evaluated for demonstrated research potential.
- Each examiner must submit independent results. There should be a written report to support the specified mark.
- Until the assessment of an Honours project is complete and a report is submitted by an examiner, all communication between the examiner and the University regarding the Honours project shall be directed through the Honours Coordinator, Students and supervisors shall not contact any examiner concerning the assessment of the Honours project until the reports of all examiners are returned to and acted on by the assessment committee of the academic unit.
- The reports from the examiners and the grades recorded for both the thesis/research report and any coursework components of the subject are to be forwarded to the Unit/Centre for compilation of grades and then to the Faculty Examination Committee.
- The names of the examiners and copies of the examiners' reports will be made available to the student after the Assessment Committee has made its determination.

Receipt of Marks

- Upon receipt of reports from examiners the Honours Administrator will notify the results to the Honours Coordinator, who will in turn, when both reports are received, notify supervisors of the outcome.
- Results for discipline specific Honours subjects should be discussed at the relevant Unit examiners meeting. For students in interdisciplinary programs, the marks are to be discussed by the unit in which the student's supervisor is located.
- The Honours Administrator will compile a table showing the coursework results (discipline specific subject and Arts 470) for the student as well as the marks from each examiner. These results will be tabled and discussed and a final grade for Honours agreed upon at the Faculty Hons examination Committee meeting.

Procedures for dealing with differences in coursework marks

Where a piece of written assessment for a coursework component is double-marked, the procedure for dealing with differences in the two marks will be as set out for the Honours thesis.

Procedures for dealing with a difference in thesis marks

- When examiners reports are within 10 marks of each other, the two marks are averaged to provide a thesis mark.
- When there is a difference of 11 marks or more, a moderator must be sought to read the thesis and the examiner reports. The moderator's mark replaces that of the average of the two existing marks.
- The requirements of the moderator are: experience in a field of study relevant to the thesis; experience in marking Honours theses, must be senior faculty staff, eg. Dean, Sub-Dean, Associate Dean or Head of School. The moderator is to be chosen in conjunction with the Honours Coordinator.
- The Faculty Hons Examination Committee will determine the final grade with advice from the Honours Coordinator.

Collection of Thesis

Once marks have been formally declared by the Faculty Assessment Committee, the Research Support Team will inform students that they can collect one copy of the thesis and reports. A copy of the thesis will be deposited in the Faculty thesis collection, and the remaining copy will be given to your supervisor.

Grievances concerning assessment outcomes and Academic Consideration Policy

Students who wish to pursue a grievance regarding the assessment of their Honours project or other assessable work must follow the procedures set out in the Academic Grievance Policy (Coursework and Honours Students).

Services, Facilities and Resources

Faculty Space and Resources

The Honours collaborative space is located in the Faculty in Room 19.1063. This room is shared with the Faculty's Dean's Scholars students. Access to computers, printing (using Pre-paid system with Faculty allocated quota), lockers and a telephone are available. To access this room, students need to get the code from the enquire centre in building 19 (Room 19.1050). The Faculty's Honours page can be found here:

<http://www.uow.edu.au/arts/honours/index.html>

Library Resources and Services

Your University ID card is also your library card. The Library web site provides access to a wide range of information resources. These include the Library Catalogue, electronic journals, full text databases and links to web sites in various subject areas. To assist you with making the most of these resources the Library offers help/training guides, web-based tutorials and hands-on workshops.

As an Honours student, you are also encouraged to make an individual appointment with your Faculty Librarian if you need additional assistance. The Faculty Librarian is Debra Nolan (contact: debran@uow.edu.au or 02 4221 4175). The South Coast and Southern Highlands Librarian is Cathy Anderson (contact: canderso@uow.edu.au or 02 4448 0812).
