

Students as Partners: The Game!

WATTLE Workshop

So, you've heard about students-as-partners, the pedagogical approach that repositions students as co-designers of their educational experiences. In this interactive workshop, you'll now apply what you know, or what you think you know, in a gamified version of the concept.

Participants will work in small groups to work through several case studies or scenarios of SaP. They will then discuss what principles, or barriers are present in each scenario and brainstorm ideas to improve the quality of SaP. The goal of the game is to build deeper understanding of the nuances within SaP approaches and share good practice across participants.

15 February 2022

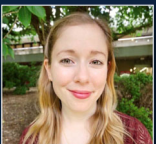

2.00pm-3.00pm | 21.115

Register at <https://wattle-students-as-partners-the-game.eventbrite.com.au>

UNIVERSITY
OF WOLLONGONG
AUSTRALIA

Guest Presenter

Dr Mollie Dollinger is a Senior Lecturer in the Learning Futures Team at Deakin University. Her research areas including exploring equity and inclusion of higher education, participatory design methods and students as partners, and understanding the value of university through the student perspective, such as through graduate employability and student leadership. She is a member of the Centre for Research in Assessment and Digital Learning (CRADLE) and Deakin's Research for Educational Impact (REDI).