

Reflection and Assessment

Workshop Series

You are invited to participate in three workshops in a new series on Reflection and Assessment. These workshops aim to promote cross-disciplinary conversation and sharing of reflection practices across a variety of contexts. Reflection is well known to promote critical thinking and delve into deep learning, playing a vital role translating experiences into meaningful knowledge.

You are welcome to attend one, two or all three workshops to engage with teachers and collaboratively advance our practices for planning, facilitating, and assessing reflection.

WORKSHOP 1

Purposes and Models of Structured Reflection

Tuesday 21 March 2023 | 12.30-1.30pm | Online

Workshop 1 is designed for staff across all disciplines who wish to enhance their knowledge and add to their toolkit for implementing reflection in the classroom.

WORKSHOP 2

Reflection as Assessment

Tuesday 28 March 2023 | 12.30-1.30pm | Online

Workshop 2 will showcase examples of scaffolding reflection as an activity and assessment. We invite debate and conversation around reflection rubrics and will share examples from practice.

WORKSHOP 3

Reflecting, Sharing, Planning

Tuesday 4 April 2023 | 12.00-1.30pm | In person (light refreshments)

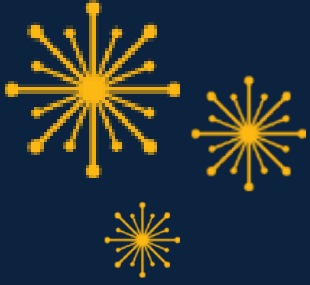

Workshop 3 will be facilitated through a Yarning Circle, inviting participants to consider making small, but significant changes to their teaching.
