

Title : ‘The Excellence in Research for Australia (ERA) process and its implications’

Abstract: The Australian government has instituted an assessment on university research called the Excellence in Research for Australia (ERA), supervised by the Australian Research Council. Submission of information to this assessment has just taken place. This talk will describe the process and attempt to draw out the implications for CSSM and research by statisticians.