The Transnational Law and Policy Centre (TLPC) at the University of Wollongong, together with the Australia New Zealand Society of International Law (ANZSIL) International Economic Law Interest Group, is delighted to host a PhD workshop in November 2023 titled Forging Pathways in Times of Geopolitical and Geoeconomic Upheaval.

23 AND 24 NOVEMBER 2023

UOW SYDNEY CBD CAMPUS

8 Gateway building, 1 Macquarie Pl, Sydney NSW 2000

PhD candidates from universities in Australia and New Zealand are invited to present their work in all areas of International Economic Law (IEL), including trade, investment, finance, intellectual property, development as well as their linkages to the environment, health, human rights, and sustainability. Participants are welcome to make a presentation on any section of their thesis or a related project. The workshop will also feature career development panels led by senior academics and practitioners with extensive opportunities for networking.

The workshop will be held on 23-24 November 2023 for 1½ days at the UOW Sydney CBD campus. TLPC and ANZSIL funds will allow us to provide partial transportation/accommodation stipends, based on need and availability. We expect that participants will either partially self-fund or fund expenses through their home institutions.

The TLPC is a globally engaged and recognized research center that creates opportunities for sustainable and ethical development, implementation and dissemination of transnational law and policy. The Centre creates a focal point for multidisciplinary collaboration within and outside of UOW. The TLPC aims to harness existing networks and connections to promote and attract further research collaborations leading to impactful research that drives positive change in transnational law and policy.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES FOR ABSTRACTS

Paper proposals of no more than 500 words should contain a title, summary, and significance of work, methodology (if applicable), and three keywords at the end of the paper (e.g., trade, investment, finance, intellectual property, development and the connections with the environment, health, human rights, and sustainability). They should be uploaded in PDF format.

The proposals will be evaluated based on academic quality with a view to bringing together a diverse group of participants.

Proposals must be submitted by 1 September 2023, 6 pm AEST, using this link:
https://uow.au1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_e5R5Nr5jBk0pXVk

Authors of successful submissions will be notified no later than 15 September 2023, 6pm AEST.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES FOR ACCEPTED PAPERS

Successful applicants must confirm their participation in the seminar by 22 September 2023, 6pm AEST.

Workshop participants will be required to submit the following by 13 November 2023, 6pm AEST:

1. Outline of the paper of no less than 2000 and no more than 2500 words in PDF format; and
2. A 10–20-minute video presentation.

The papers and videos will be made available to the other workshop participants. Participants will be expected to read the other participants' papers and watch their video presentations.

During the workshop, participants will introduce their key ideas in a 3-minute introduction. This will permit participants to devote a significant amount of time for discussion of the authors' ideas, led by a senior academic which the TLPC will recruit from among its network, including the co-chairs of the ANZSIL IEL Interest Group.
